

Ant Control Perth: Ant Control Hints & Tips

Ants are one of, if not the most difficult pest to control. Their biology and subterranean existence equips them superbly well for survival. None of the favoured old remedies such as boiling water or petrol will be effective.

Depending on the species there are likely to be less than 5% of the colony above ground at any time, and it is for this reason that commonly used repellent pesticides are only temporarily effective. Most of the colony will remain safely underground and relocate or just resurface a few weeks after the treatment. Hydramethylnon baits are available and can be effective on coastal brown ants but are very expensive.

There are however a few things you can do around your home to help with Ant Control:

- Maintaining sanitation and hygiene in and around the home
- Clean up uneaten pet food outside and food particles inside the home.
- Pay particular attention to kitchen food preparation benches and floors and any other areas that may become contaminated with crumbs etc.
- Eradicating sap sucking insects from garden plants will deny ants an attractive source of food.
